Art Unit 1713

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) as being unpatentable over van Cleeff, U.S. Patent 6,169,139.

This patent shows fluoroelastomer latex compositions which are suitable for coating compositions. See column 1 lines 15+. This patent further teaches the incorporation of curing agents as well as co-agents. See specifically column 9 lines 25+. This listing incorporates peroxides as suitable curing agents. This patent does not specifically identify the utilization of organic peroxides, however it is well recognized that when the prior art calls for peroxides in this application, one of ordinary skill in the art would understand these to be organic peroxides. The Examiner maintains that one of ordinary skill in the art would be motivated to incorporate an organic peroxide as a curative in this patent given the art recognized applicability of such peroxides in these curing systems and the fact that one of ordinary skill in the art would have a reasonable expectation of success upon doing so.
